

IF YOUR CARRIER ISN'T ELD COMPLIANT, GO WITH ONE THAT IS

By December 2019, the law mandating all carriers switch from automatic onboard recording devices (AOBRDs) to electronic logging devices (ELDs) will be in effect. Yet many carriers are waiting until the last minute, and that could be detrimental to your business.

WAITING CREATES UNCERTAINTY FOR SHIPPERS

Don't forget 2017. Two years ago, the first phase of ELD implementation for many carriers resulted in:

TIGHTER CAPACITY

67% of carriers drove fewer miles, leading to loss of productivity

LATE PENALTY FEES

Due to missed delivery windows

FAILED INSPECTIONS

Due to out-of-service freight

ARE YOU PREPARED?

91%

of most carriers plan to wait until Q4 to switch¹

KEEP YOUR FREIGHT ON THE MOVE WITH SCHNEIDER

The risks of shipping with a non-ELD compliant carrier are increasing daily. Don't expose yourself to delays and fines that are easily avoided. Choose a carrier that takes regulations — and your business — seriously.

Turn to Schneider to keep your freight moving — email solutions@schneider.com.

Sources

¹ Freightwaves.com